ABSTRACT

Statistical data on the 41 member institutions of the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) are compiled in this annual report for 1979. The member institutions are private, accredited, predominantly-black colleges and universities that offer baccalaureate and/or graduate study programs. The importance of this statistical information is emphasized in light of recent speculation regarding the future of private black colleges as increasing numbers of black students have enrolled at predominantly-white two- and four-year colleges. Data were gathered from UNCF questionnaires sent to each institution. Enrollment figures by class, sex, race, and geographic distribution are presented. Total enrollment at UNCF institutions, including summer school and additional spring semester students was approximately 50,000. Degree level and education goals of students are also examined. Information on faculty is provided including number of faculty, race, degrees held, salaries, and student-faculty ratios. The financial positions of UNCF students and institutions are discussed including operating revenues and expenditures, endowment, student charges, financial aid, and parental income. Appended are 14 data tables. (SF)

INTRODUCTION

The United Negro College Fund's Annual Statistical Report is a compilation of the most recent statistical information on its forty-one member institutions. All the member institutions are private, accredited, predominantly black colleges and universities. Thirty-nine of the member institutions offer baccalaureate programs while two (Atlanta University and the Interdenominational Theological Center) offer graduate degree studies exclusively. Several of the member institutions, including Fisk, Tuskegee and Xavier, offer graduate programs in addition to their undergraduate curricula.

In recent years, much speculation has taken place regarding the future of private black colleges as increasing numbers of black students have enrolled at predominantly white two- and four-year colleges. This report compares the enrollment, financial and academic trends at the private black colleges in the early seventies with those of the present.

The member colleges and universities of the United Negro College Fund include all the private, fully-accredited, predominantly black colleges and universities in the nation except Hampton Institute and Meharry Medical College.

The forty-one UNCF member institutions have special significance because of their traditional and continuing role in educating minority group students for productive and creative participation in American life. During the past century, the private black colleges have provided education otherwise unavailable to thousands of able and deserving youth. Most of the black leadership in America today is provided by the alumni of these institutions.

Method:

The statistical information included was obtained from the UNCF questionnaires which are sent annually to each of the member institutions.

Enrollment data used in the report are based on the fall of each academic year to facilitate comparisons with other institutions.

Fall enrollment data exclude summer school students and students who did not enroll until the spring semester. Total enrollment at UNCF institutions, including summer school and additional spring semester students, is approximately 50,000 students.

ENROLLMENT

Fall 1978 Enrollment

Total enrollment at UNCF colleges and universities increased 9.5% from 40,727 in fall, 1972 to 44,618 in Fall, 1978. Twenty-eight of the forty-one UNCF member institutions experienced enrollment increases during this period (Appendix A).

Fall Enrollments
UNCF Institutions

Fall 1972	Fall 1978	% Change
40,727	44,618	+ 9.5%

First-Time Freshmen

The average number of first-time freshmen on UNCF campuses has increased significantly since fall, 1971, reflecting an increased ability on the part of the private black colleges to attract new students. The average number of first-time freshmen at UNCF colleges was 295 students per institution in fall 1971, compared with 310 per institution in fall, 1978, a 5% increase on the average. Almost 70% of the colleges experienced increases in the enrollment of first-time freshmen during the survey years (Appendix B).

Average Enrollment/UNCF Institutions
First-Time Freshmen

Fall 1971	Fall 1978	% Change
295	310	+ 5.1%

White Students

The enrollment of white students on UNCF campuses was 660 in fall 1972, and 600 in fall 1978. This figure tends to fluctuate because of the part-time status of many of the students. In fall, 1975 there were 399 white students, and in fall, 1977, there were 679 (Appendix D).

Male-Female

More women than men attend UNCF institutions. The difference has remained relatively constant over the years with males constituting approximately 46% of the student population and females 54%.

Geographical Distribution

UNCF institutions continue to undergird their traditional, national and international scope in terms of their student enrollments. While all but one of the institutions (Wilberforce) are located in the South, and the majority of students enrolled are from the South, the percentage of students from outside of this region continues to increase (Appendix E).

In fall, 1978, 67.1% of UNCF students enrolled were from the South, compared with 69.1% in 1977, 72.9% in 1976, and 73.0% in 1971. Approximately one-third of UNCF students in fall, 1978 came from outside the South.

The central states experienced the most significant increase in the distribution of students on UNCF campuses. In 1978, 10.7% of the students at UNCF colleges were from the central states, compared to 6.2% in 1971.

Enrollment of foreign students, who have for many years been attracted to UNCF colleges, is accelerating. In fall, 1978, 4.2% of UNCF students came from foreign nations, a total of 1,946 students.

DEGREES

Undergraduate and Graduate Degrees

The number of earned academic degrees increased in 1978 over that of the previous year, but has declined compared with the earlier seventies. Approximately 10% (684) of the 6,943 degrees awarded in 1978 were graduate degrees (Appendix F).

A possible explanation for the decrease in degrees granted is the large percentage of students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds attending UNCF institutions in recent years. These students tend to have higher attrition rates. In addition, many UNCF colleges have upgraded academic standards causing more students to drop out than in previous years.

	1973	1977	1978
Degrees	7,754	6,530	6,943

Degrees Granted By Major

UNCF institutions have developed their curricula in the past several years to meet the newer distribution of job opportunities for blacks in the labor market.

In 1978, almost one-fourth (23.3%) of degrees earned were in business administration, or more than three times the 6.8% of graduates receiving business degrees in 1968. The business degree is the most popular degree at UNCF colleges with 1,615 awarded in 1977-78 (Appendix G).

Fifteen UNCF institutions offered and awarded degrees in the health professions in 1977-78, compared to only two in 1969-70; the number of communications majors jumped from 22 as recently as 1974-75 to 171 in 1977-78; and 26 UNCF colleges have established dual degree engineering programs in cooperation with engineering schools (Appendix R).

With regard to the dual degree engineering program, the 26 programs at UNCF campuses enrolled 1,136 students in 1978-79. Prior to 1967, no such programs existed.

With the decline in demand for teachers in recent years, the percentage of degrees in education has decreased from over 40% in 1969-70 to 19.4% in 1977-78. Still, 1,346 degrees in education were awarded in 1977-78.

In sum, the private predominantly black colleges composing the United Negro College Fund are gradually becoming more multipurpose institutions with enriched curricular offerings to strengthen their institutional programs. The additions and expansions in curricula are extending educational opportunity to thousands of individual students, enhancing their potential contribution to American society.

Educational Goals

Prospective applicants to UNCF institutions were surveyed through the Admissions Testing Program of the College Entrance Examination Board to ascertain their degree aspirations and intended areas of study.

Forty-nine percent of prospective UNCF freshmen for fall, 1978 indicated that they planned to pursue graduate study. Nationally only 41% of prospective freshmen aspired to graduate study.[2]

Business and commerce was the most popular intended area of study for prospective UNCF freshmen, followed by the health and medical fields, education and the social sciences. Business and commerce increased from 16.7% of prospective 1976 freshmen to 19.3% of prospective freshmen in 1978.

Education was down slightly from 14.4% to 11.8% between 1976 and 1978; and computer science rose from 3.0% to 4.0% during the same period.

Similarities appear to exist between trends in intended areas of study for prospective UNCF freshmen and in degrees granted at UNCF institutions. In both cases, business and commerce experienced substantial increases in representation, while education declined slightly. Business has become the most popular degree awarded at the private black colleges, replacing the traditionally more popular teaching degree.

THE FACULTY

The private predominantly black colleges and universities within the United Negro College Fund are essentially teaching institutions as opposed to research institutions. There is growing evidence of increased research at the institutions but not sufficient to change the basic emphasis on teaching. In this chapter, we analyze the faculties in terms of degrees held, racial composition, salaries, and numbers relative to students.

Total Faculty

The number of faculty at UNCF institutions has kept pace with enrollment growth between the early and late 1970's. The number of faculty per institution averaged 67 in 1971-72, and 75 in 1978-79, for an 11.9% increase. Enrollment increased an average of 11.0% per institution during the same period.

In 1978-79, there were a total of 3,068 faculty at UNCF institutions. Approximately 65% of the faculty were black, 35% nonblack (Appendix H).

Faculty by Degrees

The percentage of faculty members with earned doctorates increased from 37% in 1971-72 to 40.2% in 1978-79. Eight of the 41 private black colleges in UNCF had 50% or more faculty with Ph.D.'s (Appendix H).

Faculty Salaries

During the past year, faculty salaries at UNCF institutions increased for all faculty ranks. The largest percentage increase was experienced by associate professors (Appendix I).

Faculty Salaries
UNCF Institutions

	1977-78	1978-79	% Change
Professor	$16,200	$16,776	+3.6%

Assistant Professor	12,248	12,575	+2.7
Instructor	10,567	10,828	+2.5

However, UNCF faculty salaries remains substantially below the average for private colleges nationally. In 1977-78, the average faculty salary at a UNCF college was 83% of the average for small private colleges nationally.

Student Faculty Ratio

The student faculty ratio at UNCF institutions is 14.7:1. This compares favorably with the approximately 15.0:1 ratio experienced by private liberal arts colleges nationally.

INSTITUTIONAL AND STUDENT FINANCES

In this chapter, several topics bearing on the financial position of UNCF students and institutions are discussed. These topics include operating revenues and expenditures, endowment, student charges, and parental income.

Current Fund Revenues

The private black colleges experienced significant variations in the percentage distribution of educational and general revenues between 1973-74 and 1977-78. UNCF institutions increased their relative proportions of revenues from tuition and fees (from 33.9% in 1973-74 to 37.8% in 1977-78) and from government appropriations (from 27.6% in 1973-74 to 32.0% in 1977-78). The proportion of revenues from private gifts and grants decreased from 26.0% in 1973-74 to 19.1% in 1977-78.

Percentage Distribution of Educational & General Revenues
UNCF Institutions

	1973-74	1976-77	1977-78
Tuition & Fees	33.9%	37.7%	37.8%
Governmental Appropriations & Grants	27.6	30.3	32.0
Private Gifts & Grants	26.0	21.0	19.1
Endowment Income	3.6	3.1	3.8
Other	9.2	7.9	7.3

Small private colleges nationally received a substantially larger proportionate share of revenue support from tuition than private black colleges. In 1975-76, the most recent year for which data are available, small private colleges received 63% of their revenue from tuition. In comparison, the largest share of tuition revenue at private black colleges in recent years was 37.8% in 1977-78. UNCF institutions deliberately keep costs down because students who attend these colleges typically cannot afford to pay higher costs.

Private black colleges (PBC's) received a larger percentage of revenue support from government sources and from private gifts and grants than did small private colleges nationally (SPCN).

SPCN's received 13% of their revenues from government appropriations and grants in 1975-76, while PBC's between 1973-74 and 1977-78 received a low of 27.6% and a high of 32.0% in government revenues.

Most UNCF students are eligible for and receive federal student financial aid funds, accounting for the increased proportion of government aid to the PBC's.

Private gifts and grants to PBC's ranged from 26.0% of total revenue in 1973-74 to 19.1% in 1977-78, compared to the 16% of total revenues experienced by SPCN's in 1975-76. It appears from this that in recent years the PBC's were more dependent than the SPCN's upon raising operating funds from private gift sources.

Between 1971-72 and 1977-78 there was a 68.4% increase in average total revenues at the private black colleges. In 1977-78, the average revenue per UNCF institution was $6,201,501, compared with $3,681,393 in 1971-72.

Current Fund Expenditures

Perhaps the main characteristic of the distribution of expenditures at the private black colleges is the stability of expense patterns. Between 1973-74 and 1977-78, there were virtually no significant changes in the expenditure patterns of the private black colleges (Appendix K).

Percentage Distribution of Educational and General Expenditures
UNCF Institutions

	1973-74	1976-77	1977-78
Instruction and Research	37.4%	33.5%	34.2%
Libraries	3.8	3.1	3.2
Student Services	7.8	8.0	8.7
General Administration	13.9	12.9	15.1
Plants & Operation	10.1	10.5	11.1
Student Financial Aid	16.0	18.6	17.3
Other	12.1	14.2	10.4

Compared to other small private colleges nationally, the private black colleges spent proportionately more on student financial aid--17.3% of total expenditures at PBC's compared to 9.0% at SPCN's.

Between 1971-72 and 1977-78 there was a 70.1% increase in total expenditures at the private black colleges. In 1977-78, the average expenditure per UNCF institution was $6,018,590, compared with $3,537,275 in 1971-72.

Since revenues increased 68.4% during this same period, expenditures have increased more rapidly than revenues between 1971-72 and 1977-78.

Endowment

The private black colleges are continuing to strengthen their endowments, and, therefore, upgrade their ability to be financially less dependent on outside sources of support. Total market value of endowment at UNCF colleges rose from $115,493,001 in 1976-77 to $118,015,773, in 1977-78, a 2.2% increase (Appendix L).

This continues a consistent upward trend. Between 1971-72 and 1977-78 endowments have risen from $81,767,768 to $118,015,773, a 44.3% increase.

Increases in endowment, however, were partially offset by increased enrollments at the private black colleges in recent years. While total endowment increased 44.3% between 1971-72 and 1977-78, endowment per student rose only 21.8% during the same period.

The endowment per student at UNCF institutions was $2,540 in 1977-78. At private four-year colleges nationally, the endowment per student was $4,958 in 1975-76 (the most recent figure available), or more than twice the $2,352 average for UNCF institutions in that same year.[5]

Endowment at UNCF Institutions

1977-78	118,015,773	+ 2.2	2,540	- 0.1

Surpluses and Deficits

Forty percent of UNCF colleges experienced budget deficits in 1977-78, an improvement over the 47% in 1974-75 and 44% in 1973-74, but a drop from the 28% in 1976-77 (Appendix M).

% Deficit Institutions	44%	47%	30%	28%	40%

Parental Income

A survey of all fall, 1978 prospective freshmen found that students applying to UNCF institutions tend to come from more economically disadvantaged backgrounds than college-bound seniors nationally. More than 50% of the prospective applicants to UNCF colleges come from families whose annual parental incomes were less than $9,000 compared to only 13.7% of college-bound seniors nationally. Conversely, only 5% of prospective UNCF freshmen come from families with annual parental incomes of $30,000 or more, compared to 21% for college-bound seniors nationally.

Estimated Parental Contribution Toward Applicants' Education

Parents ability to pay for higher education is perhaps a more useful indicator of actual ability to afford college cost than is parental income. A survey of all fall, 1978 prospective applicants to UNCF institutions found that there is a striking difference in parents' ability to pay for higher education between prospective UNCF applicants and college-bound seniors nationally. According to College Scholarship Service standards, the median expected parental contribution of prospective UNCF freshmen was $380 in all fall, 1978. In comparison, the median expected parental contribution of 1978 college-bound seniors nationally was $1,140.

Average Charges to Students

The average tuition at UNCF institutions in 1979-80 will be less than two-thirds the national average for private four-year colleges. UNCF institutions will average $1,888 in tuition, compared to the $2,923 at private four-year colleges nationally[6] (Appendix N).

With room and board, books, and supplies included, the total average cost of attending a UNCF college in 1979-80 will be $3,446, or 5.3% over the current $3,216 average cost. Total costs at private four-year colleges nationally rose from the current $4,405 to $4,908 in 1979-80, an 11.4% increase.

UNCF institutions would have to raise their tuition over $1,000 and their room and board over $400 to meet the averages for private colleges nationally. Since the vast majority of UNCF students come from low-income families and require financial aid to attend college, the result of any cost increase could prove disastrous for substantial numbers of these students.
